DETAILED ACTION

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on July 06, 2009 has been considered and acknowledged.
2. The IDS filed on 7/6/09, 7/7/09 and 7/8/09 were considered and acknowledged.
3. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Claims 46-90, 97-98 are allowed.

The present invention is drawn to a method of characterizing mitochondrial DNA or heteroplasmy of two or more segments of mitochondrial DNA (mtDNA) of a subject comprising amplifying said segment of mtDNA obtained from said sample with a pair of primers to obtain a plurality of amplification products; determining molecular masses of said amplification products by mass spectrometry and determining base composition of said plurality of amplification products thereby characterizing said heteroplasmy and comparing the masses with at least one database comprising a plurality of known molecular masses or determining base composition, thereby reaching a forensic conclusion. The closest prior art Parson et al. in view of Aaserud et al., teach said method, however the prior art did not teach determining base composition and comparing molecular masses with a database comprising plurality of known molecular masses to reach a forensic conclusion. The obviousness-type double patenting rejection over the instant claims were withdrawn in view of the terminal disclaimer. In view of the absence of either teaching or suggestion of the method as claimed, the present invention is novel and non-obvious.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
